The History of BKV, Part 1

Development of community transport

Public transport has always played an essential role in the history of Budapest, because of the situation of this city. Even in ancient times, the place was considered as a traffic nodal point, because the terrestrial roads converged and crossed the River Danube here. Historical sources from a later date mention the Pest–Buda ferry, which gained even greater importance after the settlement of the Hungarian tribes. Again in later years, commercial traffic crossed the river via a boat–bridge, while the possibility of crossing by boat continued to survive until the 19th century, and started to decline only when steam–boating began to gain popularity and when permanent bridges were built to connect Pest and Buda (Chain Bridge: 1849; Margaret Bridge: 1876).
The horse drawn tramway appeared on the streets of Pest on 1st August 1866. The first horse tram tracks were constructed between Széna Square and the Újpest (New Pest) railway station. The Pest Public Road Rail Tracks Company (PKVT) founded on 22nd May 1865 applied for and was awarded a permit to construct the rail tracks. Only two horse tramway lines were built in Buda: one in Zugliget (1868) and one in Óbuda (1869), both built by the Buda Public Road Rail Tracks Company (BKVT). The horse tramway was the first transport vehicle – considered as a very modern one at that time – being able to satisfy mass transportation needs. With its fast and regular runs the horse tramway brought certain parts of the expanding city closer to one another, and thereby played an essential role in the development of the town in the years to follow.

The idea of building a funicular was raised by Ödön Széchenyi, the youngest son of Count István Széchenyi (the “greatest Hungarian”, Minister of Transport, the founder of modern Hungary through his ideas and his work.)

The funicular of the Buda Castle Hill started operating as the second transport vehicle of that type in the continent driven by steam at that time on 2nd March 1870. The cars being assembled in the Spiering Factory of Vienna had a special design: they contained three cabins built one above the other in a step-like arrangement. This technical solution was unique all over the world, and so became the greatest technical attraction of the funicular.

In 1870 Nikolaus Riggenbach the designer of Europe’s first cogwheel railway visited Budapest. His concept was to connect Sváb Hill, a district developing into a holiday resort in the 1850s, to the rest of the capital city of Hungary. The agreement on this project was signed on 7th April 1873. The cogwheel railway departed for the first time in its history as the third such vehicle in Europe at 4 p.m. on 24th June 1874. Seeing the successful operation of this railway, the line was extended up to Széchenyi Hill in 1890.

The demand to join the conurbation settlements into the city transport emerged by the development of the city. The first steam-driven HÉV suburban railway line ran from Közvágóhíd (Slaughterhouse) to Soroksár. When BKVT applied again for the preparatory work permit of its extension up to Dunaharaszti this section was not even introduced to operation. Both sections were opened to commercial traffic in 1887. In the following year two further lines were inaugurated: the Kerepesi Rd – Cinkota line and the Filatori Dam – Szentendre.

The History of BKV, Part 2

Establishment of the Budapest Transport Company

BKV, the Budapest Transport Company was established in 1968. Its first General Director was József Daczó between 01.01.1968 – 32.12.1983.

Thanks to the reform of the fare-system the ticket regime became significantly simplified and the conditions for operation without conductors were laid down. The changes were introduced on all BKV vehicles in 1968, too.

Since 1968 BKV Has operated the river crossing and local boat services.

One of the most dynamic period of Budapest transport began in the early 1970s. In 1970–1972 Metro Line 2 was inaugurated. In January 1973 the operation of the metro was brought under BKV control.
In 1991 all of BKV's assets were transferred from state-property to the Municipality of Budapest. Between 01.01.1991 and 30.06.1993 Sándor Holl held the responsibility of the General Director of the company.

The General Assembly of the Municipality of Budapest transformed BKV into a real business entity, notably a shareholders’ company coming into effect on 1st January 1996. This way, BKV Rt. (BKV Company Limited by Shares) was created.

SZAKMAI INFORMÁCIÓTARTALOM

Purchasing tickets

The ticket sale will start as traffic requires, – but not later than 30 minutes prior to the departure of the train according to time-table. Some ticket sale employees are responsible for other platform duties and so ticket sales may close 5 minutes prior to the departure of the train.

Please, make sure you have enough time to buy your ticket before starting your journey! If you want to be on the safe side, you can avoid crowds and queues by purchasing your ticket in advance.

Even two months ahead of your journey you can buy the ticket. The beginning of the ticket’s validity period will be the day you specify.

Do you want to make your journey earlier because of an unexpected event? All you have to do is to validate your ticket before your actual departure.

If you do not know the date of your journey, buy your ticket without a validity period. This ticket has to be validated at the station before your departure.
Please, make sure if your travel card or other document entitling you for the concession is valid. The conductor on the train shall check if you are entitled to the concession. Please, help with his work!

If you wish to take an IC or IP train during your journey, please indicate it on purchasing the ticket so that the cashier can issue you the required supplementary ticket, seat reservation.

Please, check your ticket and your change before leaving the ticket office. No complaints can be received once you have left the ticket office.

If you get on the train on such a station or stop where there is no ticket sale, the conductor will sell you the appropriate ticket without any supplementary fee. Make sure you have a valid ticket before you get into a train or train car without conductor (the letters KN indicate it).
